Congratulations on the completion of your degrees! You and your families have just reason to be proud of your reaching this important milestone, one you will come to appreciate more and more in the years to come.

As you leave your university, I would like you to know how much we, the faculty and staff, value your accomplishments as scholars, artists, athletes and leaders. You have enriched your lives and have elevated the esteem of this institution.

We have tried to provide you with a university experience where you could develop your academic interests, your special talents, and extend your intellectual and cultural horizons. Our experience also shows that the friends and associations you have made while here will enrich you in many and varied ways throughout your life that you cannot predict today. I urge you to stay connected with us and take full advantage of being a member of the University of Maryland family.

I truly hope that you will return to campus often and continue to support this institution and future generations of students. Please consider joining us for the campus-wide open house, Maryland Day 2002, scheduled for Saturday, April 27, 2002. Welcome to the university's family of alumni.

Good luck. We are proud of each and every one of you!

Yours sincerely,
C. D. Mote, Jr.
President

On behalf of the University of Maryland Alumni Association, congratulations! I add our very best wishes to those you have received from your faculty and other university friends.

Your commencement ceremony today includes a special tradition. You will be officially inducted as a member of the Maryland Alumni Association by Jody Olsen Ph.D. '79, this year's association president. Our gift to you on this day is a one-year complimentary membership. In the next few weeks, you will receive your membership card and information on the benefits and services that membership brings.

The alumni association gives you an opportunity to stay involved with your alma mater, to go places and to continue to learn. Our programs meet many needs and interests—whether cultural, educational or recreational. Join us on a trip to Spain where a university professor is your guide, at the opera with representatives from the School of Music and, of course, at athletic events. Game watches around the country let you cheer on the Terps with fellow Maryland fans. This fall, we will continue our Alumni College, a way for you to come back to campus and experience the best of what a research university has to offer.

Alumni College takes place during Homecoming weekend, when we hope to see all of you. Remember that as alumni, the University of Maryland is always your home, and we look forward to welcoming you back often in the years ahead. Again, congratulations and best of luck.

Sincerely,

Danita D. Nias '81

Executive Director, University of Maryland Alumni Association

Today you complete the journey that was undertaken several years ago, arriving proudly at the threshold of a new life. When you look back, can you see how this journey has changed you? As you sit here today, what events stand out in your mind as experiences that showed you which path to travel?

We have each followed a unique path but have reached a common destination. As seniors, it is easier to list the ways in which we are different from each other than the ways in which we are bound together.

We are accustomed to describing students in groups—commuters, residents; members of ethnic, religious, or professional organizations; students in particular departments and colleges. These differences should be admired and respected as should the many qualities we share.

From this point, you can reflect on past journeys. Remember what you learned along the way about who you are and what you are capable of achieving.

Know that your time spent at the University of Maryland will help you arrive at your next destination. Finally, always consider our campus to be another home, a stop on your life's journey to which you can always return.

Congratulations!

A Bold New Era

From its pre-Civil War roots as the state's first agricultural college and one of America's original land grant institutions, the University of Maryland, College Park, has emerged as a public research university of national stature, highly regarded for its broad base of excellence in teaching and research. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university's commitment to quality education in a research environment is key to its academic reputation and the success of its graduates. The research enterprise infuses the curriculum at both the undergraduate and graduate levels, exposing students to the most pressing issues and challenges in their discipline and training them to respond with rigor as well as creativity to contemporary problems.

There are 13 school and colleges within the organizational structure of the University of Maryland. Seven of these units—the Smith School of Business, the College of Education, the Clark School of Engineering, the Merrill College of Journalism, the College of Computer, Mathematical and Physical Sciences, the College of Information Studies and the School of Public Affairs—have been recognized by their peers and in various rankings as among the 25 best in the nation. Various academic specialties in the College of Arts and Humanities and the College of Behavioral and Social Sciences are also ranked among the 25 best and the School of Music has been ranked 30th nationwide. The breadth of this excellence is a source of pride for students, faculty and staff, and is endorsement for the university's flagship status among the state's institutions of higher education.

The university has enjoyed a period of rapid advancement in all of the areas that affect quality. The qualifications of entering students have risen each year for the past 10 years, and SATs now range from 1170 to 1330 for the mid-50 percent tier of students. In fall 2000, 500 first-year students scored above 1400 on their SATs. Sponsored research has doubled in the same 10-year period, and has reached $284 million for FY00. Private giving has increased even more dramatically, from $18 million per year at the start of the 1990s to $81.7 million in FY00. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992. Coupled with renewed commitment from the state of Maryland for funding flagship initiatives, these factors ensure that the university will continue on a forward trajectory for many years to come.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, current enrollment stands at 24,638 undergraduate and 8,551 graduate students. There are 110 undergraduate programs, 100 master's programs and 70 doctoral programs, and more than 100 centers and institutes engaged in research and outreach.

The university has licensed more than 750 technologies since 1986, and has been issued 135 U.S. patents. An average of two new invention disclosures each week are received by the Office of Technology Liaison, a reflection of the pace of innovative technologies being created at the university.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy. Strong links to the scientific and technological agencies and organizations of the federal government drive research in the environment, engineering, physics, computer science, life sciences and agriculture. Scholarship in the arts, humanities and social sciences is marked by the spirit of intellectual diversity and interdisciplinary collaboration.

Maryland is one of the research universities in the prestigious 61-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa. It is classified as a Research-1 university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received, and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

History

The University of Maryland was founded in 1807 in Baltimore as a faculty-owned College of Medicine. The medical school was considered one of the top schools in the country, attracting notable professors and lecturers from throughout the world. In its beginning, tuition cost $140, grades were sent home weekly to parents, and students could obtain room and board for $300 annually.

Five years later, the growing institution was renamed the

University Highlights

- In fiscal year 2000, sponsored research and outreach awards to the University of Maryland totaled more than $284 million.
- The university collaborates with more than 280 businesses through its Maryland Industrial Partnerships program. The university's incubator has spawned 20 new companies; three have been recognized as among the fastest growing in the state.
- Rankings continue to reflect Maryland's rising reputation. In the latest U.S. News & World Report graduate program rankings, the College of Education is 22nd in the nation (its counseling and personnel services program is No. 1 and special education is No. 10); and the School of Public Affairs is ranked 19th with three of its programs (environmental policy, social policy, and public finance and budgeting) in the top 10. Also, the Wall Street Journal/Harris Interactive Business School Survey listed the Smith School of Business as No. 13 overall worldwide among the survey's top 50 schools.
- Maryland was among 27 doctoral granting institutions to be honored by the Quality Education for Minorities Network. The honor is based on the number of university doctoral degrees awarded to people of color in the fields of mathematics, the physical sciences and engineering.
- University activities like athletic events and Commencement ceremonies will be held in the new Comcast Center arena, beginning in the 2002-2003 school year. Comcast Corp. made a $20 million naming rights gift—the largest single donation ever to the flagship campus.

University of Maryland. Despite the name, the university was not considered a state institution as it was still owned and operated by faculty. Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, the first dental school in the world, became a part of the university in 1840, awarding the first Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S.) degree in 1841.

In 1859, the Maryland Agricultural College, which would evolve into the University of Maryland, College Park, was opened under a charter secured by a group of Maryland planters in 1856. In addition to spending one hour each day hoeing or plowing on the college farm, students took a broad range of courses in ancient and modern languages, natural sciences, English and mathematics. After a disastrous fire on campus in 1912, the state acquired the college and rebuilt it.

In 1920, the state legislature combined the College Park institution with the professional schools in Baltimore to form an expanded University of Maryland. The entity eventually grew to include campuses in Baltimore County, the Eastern Shore and University College, a continuing education institution.

The following decades saw the increasing growth of student population, excellence in programs and curricula, and the burgeoning of the University of Maryland, College Park, into a nationally recognized research institution.

July 1, 1988, marked the dawn of a new era in higher education in the state of Maryland, as the five components of the university were merged with six other state universities and colleges to form the University of Maryland System, and College Park secured its flagship status with a mandate to become one of the pre-eminent research universities in the nation.

The Alumni Association

With alumni clubs from Miami to Taipei, Taiwan, the Maryland Alumni Association strives to keep and strengthen ties between the university and its graduates. Member events such as pre-game parties, bull roasts, picnics, golf tournaments, dinner cruises and subscriptions to College Park magazine and the biannual Maryland Alumni supplement help keep alumni connected to the university and to each other. All graduating seniors and successful master's and Ph.D. candidates receive a one-year free membership in the Maryland Alumni Association.

Customs of Commencement

Early commencement ceremonies at the University of Maryland were marked with great fanfare and celebration. The faculty gave huge banquets for the graduates the night before the event. The following morning, crowds gathered to watch the young graduates parade. It was a gala social occasion, attracting not only friends and relatives, but the fashionable elite of the day. At the ceremony, prayers were recited, speeches were made, and honorary degrees were awarded to distinguished figures from across the country. Finally, as the audience cheered and threw flowers, the graduates came forward to collect their Latin-inscribed degrees.

Academic Costume

The black caps and gowns worn by the students and faculty in the academic procession have been the traditional costume of scholars since the Middle Ages. The ordinary dress of the scholar, whether student or teacher, was similar to that of a cleric. Caps and gowns were probably worn to keep students warm in unheated buildings. Many medieval scholars were tonsured, like monks, and hoods served to cover their shaved heads until the skull cap later took its place.

Even after the Civil War, most students at American universities wore caps and gowns daily while in residence. These varied in design until they were standardized by the American Intercollegiate Commission in 1894. At that time it was decided that all robes would be black. Colors on the trim of the gown were also standardized to indicate the scholar's academic discipline.

A list of department colors follows:

Agriculture: Maize
Arts, Letters, Humanities: White
Business Administration,
Commercial Science: Drab
Dentistry: Lilac
Economics: Copper
Education: Light Blue
Engineering: Orange
Fine Arts, Architecture: Brown
Forestry: Russet
Home Economics: Maroon
Journalism: Crimson
Law: Purple
Library Science: Lemon
Medicine: Green
Music: Pink
Nursing: Apricot
Oratory, Speech: Silver Gray
Pharmacy: Olive Philanthropy: Rose
Philosophy: Dark Blue
Public Administration, Foreign Service: Peacock Blue
Public Health: Salmon
Physical Education: Sage Green
Science: Golden Yellow
Social Work: Citron

Theology and Divinity: Scarlet
Veterinary Sciences: Gray

The tassel may also be colored to represent an academic discipline or it may be black. Officially, the tassel is permitted "to lie where it will" on the mortarboard. However, numerous institutions have adopted the practice of having degree candidates wear the tassel on the right front side at the start of the commencement ceremony and then shift them to the left side after degrees are awarded.

Student Marshals

Elected through a nomination process, student marshals are senior leaders who play an important role in the graduation ceremony. Student marshals assist in organizing the thousands of graduates, leading them smoothly through the commencement procession. They also supply extra caps and hoods, and bobby pins to keep headwear secure. May 2001 marshals are listed on page 72 of this booklet.

Senior Gift

The senior gift is a university tradition dating back 91 years. The first senior gift, the iron gate entrance at the Rossborough Inn, was given by the Class of 1910 (although the gate itself was not erected until 1941). The Class of 2001 will leave its mark by preparing a new home for the Maryland

Terrapin statue that is currently in Cole Field House. After refurbishing, it will occupy a similar place of honor in the front of the Comcast Center.

The purpose of the senior gift is twofold. Each year the senior class leaves behind a memorable legacy for new students and visitors, and provides the university with a gift that enhances the campus atmosphere.

Past senior gifts have included: the Testudo statue (Class of 1933), the lights around the "M" in the traffic circle on Campus Drive (Class of 1986), restoration of the Chapel chimes and clock face (Class of 1992) and the Bronzed Seal on North Gate House (Class of 1995).

Academic Degrees

A degree is awarded for the successful completion of a course of study. There are more than 1,600 different academic degrees currently conferred by colleges and universities nationwide. The University of Maryland offers degrees in 102 undergraduate majors, 100 master's programs, and 70 doctoral programs.

The Doctor's Degree

The doctor's degree represents the most advanced earned degree conferred by American institutions. There are two distinct types: the practitioner's degree and the research degree. The first type represents advanced training for the practice of various professions, principally Doctor of Medicine, Juris Doctor, Doctor of Pharmacy, and Doctor of Veterinary Medicine. These degrees do not involve the completion of original research by the student. The University of Maryland, at the professional school in Baltimore, awarded the first two dental degrees ever on March 9, 1841, and invented the name of the degree, Doctor of Dental Surgery (D.D.S.).

The University of Maryland conveys the Doctor of Veterinary Medicine (D.V.M.) to approximately 90 students each year in a program that was instituted in 1980. Graduates receive a diploma containing the seals of both the University of Maryland and its partner institution, the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

The second type is the research doctorate representing prolonged periods of advanced study. A dissertation that usually accompanies the study is intended to contribute substantially to the body of knowledge on the subject. The most important of these, the Doctor of Philosophy, no longer has an implication of philosophy for its holder, but represents advanced research in any of the major fields of knowledge. It was first awarded in the United States in 1861 by Yale University. The University of Maryland awarded a Ph.D. for the first time in 1920.

The Master's Degree

The master's degree is an academic honor bestowed upon students who have successfully completed work beyond the baccalaureate. A thesis and an oral examination are usually required. In 1920, the University of Maryland awarded its first Master of Arts (M.A.) and Master of Science (M.S.) degrees in fields other than agriculture.

The Bachelor's Degree

The bachelor's degree represents the completion of a four-year course of college-level study and is the oldest academic degree awarded by American institutions of higher learning. It was first conferred in America in 1642 on the first nine graduates of Harvard College. Maryland Agriculture College, which later became the University of Maryland, College Park, awarded its first Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) and Bachelor of Science (B.S.) in 1862.

In his lifetime, Parris Glendening has gone from an impoverished childhood in an unelectrified Florida house with no indoor plumbing to the governor's residence in Annapolis, Md., and leadership in government support of education and environmental stewardship. His journey to a position of national prominence began when he realized that the doorway to success was education.

After receiving an A.A. degree at Broward Community College, Glendening went on to earn bachelor's and master's degrees from Florida State University. In 1967, he received a Ph.D. in political science and urban administration, the youngest student in FSU history to do so. Upon graduating, Glendening came to the University of Maryland to teach political science. He would call the University of Maryland home for the next 27 years. He now serves on the Board of Visitors of the School of Public Affairs at Maryland. He is co-author of two books, Controversies of State and Local Political Systems and Pragmatic Federalism: An Intergovernmental View of American Government, a textbook used in more than 400 colleges and universities.

While teaching at Maryland, Glendening put his political science knowledge to the test, running for the Hyattsville City Council and winning a seat. In 1974, he was elected to the Prince George's County Council, where he served until 1982 and was council chair for three years. In 1982, Glendening won the office of Prince George's County Executive. He was elected to the office three times, the only county executive in Maryland to hold that claim. Under his leadership, Prince George's County was selected as an "All America County" by the National Civic League. City and State magazine named him the "Most Valuable County Official" in the nation. In 1994, Glendening won his first term for the office of governor. He was overwhelmingly re-elected in 1998 to his second and, by law, final term.

As governor, Glendening has made education a top priority. He increased funding at every level, from aid to primary and secondary schools to a four-year, $635 million plan designed to help Maryland's colleges and universities achieve excellence across the board. Gov. Glendening worked with the Maryland General Assembly to develop and pass the Maryland HOPE Scholarship Program, guaranteeing access to college for all Maryland high school students who work hard, get good grades and agree to work in Maryland upon graduation. In recognition of his commitment to education, the Maryland State Teachers Association presented him with its Friend of Education Award in 1997.

The governor has also enthusiastically and effectively championed the protection, preservation and restoration of the environment. His Smart Growth-Anti-Sprawl Initiative has positioned Maryland as a national leader in the fight to preserve existing open space, protect natural resources, reinvigorate established communities, and stem the tide of suburban sprawl. The University of Maryland's new National Center for Smart Growth Research and Education is a testament to the governor's vision. The World Wildlife Fund praised Smart Growth as a "Gift to the Earth."

Glendening has been a strong and passionate voice on issues of social justice. As governor, he has championed laws to protect people from all forms of bigotry and has worked hard to bring opportunity to every Maryland resident by embracing greater justice, fairness and inclusion.

Governor, State of Maryland*

Charles H. Townes
Nobel Laureate

Recipient of Honorary Doctorate of Science

Charles H. Townes is readily acknowledged as the physicist who has had the greatest impact on science and technology in the 20th century. Best known for his groundbreaking research in developing the maser—which provided him the basic knowledge for his subsequent development of the laser—Townes' work in the field of quantum electronics earned him the 1964 Nobel Prize in Physics.

Born in Greenville, South Carolina in 1915, Townes graduated (at age 19) summa cum laude from Furman University with a bachelor of science degree in physics and a bachelor of arts degree in modern languages. He completed a master's degree at Duke University, and in 1939 received a Ph.D. at the California Institute of Technology with a thesis on isotope separation and nuclear spins.

During World War II, Townes helped design radar bombing systems while working at Bell Telephone Laboratories. After the war, he turned his attention to applying the microwave technique of wartime radar research to spectroscopy, which he envisioned a powerful new tool for studying the structure of atoms and molecules, as well as a potential new basis for controlling electromagnetic waves.

Appointed to the faculty at Columbia University in 1948, Townes continued his research of the interactions between microwaves and molecules. He conceived the idea of the maser in 1951, and a few months later began working on a device using ammonia gas as the active medium. In early 1954, the first amplification and generation of electromagnetic waves by stimulated emission were obtained, and Townes and his students coined the word "maser" for this device, which is an acronym for microwave amplification by stimulated emission of radiation.

In 1958, Townes and his brother-in-law, A. L. Schawlow, showed theoretically that masers could be made to operate in the optical and infrared region. Their work resulted in a joint paper on optical and infrared masers, or lasers (light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation). Today, apart from being indispensable tools in the laboratory, both masers and lasers have found many applications in radar, communications, astronomy, navigation, atomic clocks, surgery and industry.

Laser and maser physics and quantum electronics are only part of Townes' significant scientific impact. He has served in administrative capacities throughout the government and also as provost at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Today, Townes is professor of physics emeritus at the University of California at Berkeley, and continues substantive research in the field of astrophysics, concentrating mainly on the behavior of stars.

In addition to the Nobel Prize, Townes has received numerous awards and honors, including membership in the National Academy of Sciences and in the Royal Society of London, the National Academy of Science's Comstock Prize and the John J. Carty Medal, the Rumford Premium of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, and NASA's Distinguished Public Service Medal.

Whether on stage or in the classroom, Margaret E. Sheer meets the true definition of a “Renaissance woman.”

For four consecutive years as a student at the University of Maryland, Sheer has acted as a character in the Maryland Renaissance Festival, the state’s premier event celebrating the Middle Ages. At the same time, a renaissance spirit has overflowed into her personal and academic life, where she is accomplished in both the performing arts and environmental science.

The Columbia, Md., native and University Medal winner will draw upon both of those talents as she begins the next phase of her life at the University of Texas, where she has twin fellowships to attend the university’s School of Law and the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Policy.

Sheer’s career at Maryland has been shaped by three consuming passions—literature, the environment and public policy.

Sheer has a life-long love for William Shakespeare. In the fall of 1997, she got her chance to bring life to some characters from the playwright’s era when she joined the crew of the Maryland Renaissance Festival. As a freshman, Sheer recalls making nightly drives from her dorm to festival rehearsals to learn how to move and speak as a Renaissance character. “You get to go out and interact with people while wearing these gorgeous costumes,” she says. “It was like playing dress-up.”

On her way to becoming a “Renaissance Woman,” Sheer used the campus as a learning stage from which to explore the time period. She was a founding member of the Collegium Musicum, a group that performs music from the Renaissance period in different languages and in a variety of styles. Sheer says that singing with the group helped her relax from her studies as a double-major in Spanish Language and Literature and Environmental Science and Policy.

In addition to her double degree, Sheer has completed the university’s Science Technology and Society Certificate Program as well as coursework for an Advanced Training in Conflict Management Certificate. As an environmental studies major, Sheer held internships with the Association of State and Interstate Water Pollution Control Administrators, Global ReLeaf International for American Forests and the National Space Club Scholars. She also worked in the university-based Harrison Program on the Future Global Agenda.

“My four years at Maryland have been packed to almost overflowing,” Sheer wrote recently. “I have so much to learn, so much to see, and so much to do that I can hardly wait to begin. Again.”

Although only time will tell what her future holds, Sheer identifies three broad goals for her future. First, she wants to work across national boundaries because she says environmental problems do not respect political lines. She also wants to work in Latin America with its “complex layering of histories and cultures with dissimilar world views and urgent economical and social needs.” Finally, Sheer wants to work as a mediator, “helping parties come to the table, come to consensus and come to robust, practical solutions.”

But no matter what the world has in store for her, Sheer will use her Renaissance background as an actress and a scholar to see her through whatever challenges life may present.

Margaret E. Sheer

Recipient of The University Medal

Awarded at May Commencement to the graduating senior who best exemplifies academic distinction, extraordinary character, and extracurricular contributions to the campus or public communities. Consisting of a gold medal and a cash prize, it is the highest honor the university can bestow on a single graduating senior in that academic year.

Mark Daniel Tosso

It's no coincidence that in the four years that Mark Tosso has been a student at the University of Maryland, many policies affecting student academic and social life on campus have changed. Nor is it by chance that he's been instrumental to many of those changes.

Tosso started with the chapel carillon. When told that the bells played the state anthem, he wondered why the song wasn't Maryland's alma mater. He took that thought to newly appointed university president C. D. Mote, Jr. With Tosso leading the effort, the new carillon tune debuted at the first Maryland Day celebration in 1998.

Tosso has served on an impressive list of service campus organizations. He was chair of the President's Student Advisory Council for three years, coordinating the activities of a 15-member group that advises President Mote. For two years, Tosso was a senator in the University Senate, a body of faculty, student and staff representatives that advises the Board of Regents, chancellor and president on matters concerning all aspects of the school. As presiding officer in the Office of Judicial Programs, Tosso oversaw disciplinary hearings for students charged with serious conduct violations. He was instrumental in the university's adoption of an honor code and a new system of grading.

Tosso never flagged, however, in his primary job at the University of Maryland, that of being a student. A Banneker/Key Scholarship recipient, Tosso maintained a perfect 4.0 average as a double major in history and communication. "He has pursued some of the most rigorous academic possibilities at the University of Maryland," writes Robyn Muncy, associate professor of and director of undergraduate studies in history. Tosso was both a Gemstone and History Honors student. His team project for the Gemstone program studied the re-entry of juvenile sex offenders at the close of their sentences. In November 2000, Tosso presented the team's research paper to the American Society of Criminology.

His senior history thesis examines the influence of longtime University of Maryland President Curly Byrd on the school's policy of integration. Says his thesis advisor, Professor Kevin Olsen, "In my 30 years of teaching at the University Maryland, Mark is the finest undergraduate student I have encountered."

A member since 1999 of the leadership honor society Omicron Delta Kappa, Tosso served as vice president of the society's Sigma Circle. In recognition of his leadership, he and 29 other students selected nationwide attended a conference last summer at Williams College that focused on the future of public policy, emphasizing civic engagement and political participation. His conference cohorts designated him most likely to be a future vice president and president of the United States.

Charles Wellford, professor and chair of the Department of Criminal Justice and Criminology and Tosso's Gemstone project mentor, writes, "Mark symbolizes what we want all of our undergraduates to be: A great student, a student leader, a concerned citizen of the campus community, able to motivate others—including his teachers—to be better."

The May 2001 class roster comprises degree candidates from the graduate and undergraduate programs at the University of Maryland, College Park. As final action cannot always be taken for candidates by the time this program is printed, the list of candidates here is tentative only. The university reserves the right to withdraw or add names. Diplomas (for other than doctoral degrees) will be mailed by the Office of Records and Registration.

Bachelor's degree candidates who have qualified for scholarship honors upon graduation are designated by appropriate symbols adjacent to their names within the alphabetical listing of colleges or schools.

To be eligible for consideration for such honors a candidate must meet the following general criteria: (1) have completed at least two years of work at the University of Maryland (60 semester hours, 30 of which were earned at the College Park campus) and (2) have a scholastic average of a "B" (grade point average of 3.0) or higher in the University of Maryland work prior to the last semester of registration before the awarding of a degree.

Degree candidates who have met these criteria are shown in the listings as qualifying, upon graduation, for the designators Summa cum Laude (if they ranked in the top 2 percent of the candidates in their respective colleges or schools), Magna cum Laude (if in the next 3 percent), or cum Laude (if in the next 5 percent) based on the grade point averages of students in the preceding three graduating classes of their degree-granting unit.

University Honors Citations

Students who have earned the University Honors Citation may wear red and gold braided cords over their academic gowns.
